

EASTENDERS: Gray turns up to Whitney's trial looking dishevelled wasn't swept away by passion – she did it because she knew it was the one thing Billy could never forgive.

To make extra sure that it stops Billy trying to win her back and potentially finding out her real secret, she tells him where his brother spent the night, and then shocks Ellis by claiming their "affair" has been going on for ages.

But it's clear that losing the man she loves is taking its toll on Dawn, as she later quits her job and leaves Woodbine Cottage.

Belle tries to take revenge against Jamie at the surgery, but it seems the situation might be putting a strain on her mental health as it's revealed she's been hearing a familiar voice.

Mandy and Leyla battle it out to raise the money to take over the salon, Liv tries to convince Aaron to give Ben a fair chance, and Charity enjoys a virtual romantic anniversary with Vanessa.

HOLLYOAKS

If anyone can understand why someone would want to confront their abuser, it's Brody. So, when he finds Felix's former bully, Cormac, is in the village, he has no qualms about escorting him to the garage.

However, when he discovers that Warren is also keen to catch up with his former carer, Brody starts to panic about what exactly is going to happen. As he predicted, the meeting doesn't go to plan, leaving Felix, Warren and Brody scrambling to find a solution.

Cormac isn't Brody's only problem as Liberty is behaving oddly – and a mysterious nurse at the hospital doesn't really help when she encourages her to bond with the baby.

The McQueens are receiving sinister text messages and don't know who's behind them, but they may get a clue when a familiar face returns to the village.

Tom is uneasy when Yazz mentions her dreams of pursuing a career in London, while James makes a point of badmouthing George, and Edward encourages Diane to stop wearing her wedding ring, even though she admits that taking it off hurts – in more ways than one.

HOME AND AWAY

After initially announcing he had no intention of going under the knife, Justin finally agrees to have surgery.

He and Ava spend a day bonding before his appointment – and he also receives a visit from his surgeon, the handsome Mr Green, who has an odd effect on Tori.

Mac's closeness to Ari causes a rift between her and Tane. However, that could be mended when she is trapped in a lift with him after he is attacked.

Colby and Taylor's affair gathers pace, to Willow's horror. But as Taylor awakes after another night of passion with no feelings of guilt over what has happened, her husband Angelo begins to suspect something is going on behind his back – and determines to find out what it is by taking Bella in for another round of questioning.

Owen asks Roo out, Alf and Irene try to help John handle his loneliness and Dean's behaviour annoys Ziggy and Amber.

NEIGHBOURS

Pierce and Chloe have every reason to be heartbroken, but instead of turning to each other for comfort, they struggle to find a way to communicate their grief.

During Dipi's cookery class, they realise just how many issues they face. The teacher isn't happy either – Dipi and Shane continue to be at loggerheads and after another tension-filled evening, spend the night in separate beds. Later, as Shane faces a fight with his inner demons, his wife ends up in the arms of another man – Pierce.

Ned's efforts to get the unhinged Scarlett out of his life fail miserably. Instead he ends up painting her – during the sitting, she spends her time prying into his private life. Her antics also begin to get on Roxy and Bea's nerves.

Levi is angry about Sheila tampering with his medical assessment, Karl and Jane feel Susan's wrath, and Rose makes a decision she may live to regret.

EMMERDALE: Charity has a virtual romantic anniversary meal with Vanessa